FEATURING

Dr. Mathilde Benveniste

THE OLDEST JEWISH COMMUNITY IN EUROPE, SALONIKA

Dr. Mathilde Benveniste will relate the story of the Jews of Salonika, Greece, their devastation at the hands of the Nazis and one family's survival.

Dr. Benveniste was born in Salonika, Greece after World War II into a Jewish family who were among the remnant – only 4% - of Salonika's Jews who survived the Holocaust. It was the lowest survival rate in all of Europe.

Dr. Benveniste came to the United States as a Fulbright Scholar and is an inventor of telecommunications technology and intellectual property consultant. She now resides in New Jersey
